

Orientation of names in explaining Masabeh Al-Sunnah to Ibn al-Malik (854 AH): the subject as a model.

- Author(s): Esraa Aziz Aliwi ,Salman Abbas Abd ,Ahmed Talib mohammed
- Abstract: It is well known that the subject is the pillar of the verbal sentence (a sentence that starts with a verb), and it is with the verb like a single component, one is indispensable to the other, as it does the action of the verb, it is the doer, thus, they constitute one word in the sentence, besides, every sentence should have a subject whether implicitly or explicitly, like qam zyund wzyund qama, because every verb should have a subject and the meaning in the sentence could not complete without the subject as the majority of grammarians agree.
- Keywords: verbal sentence, implicitly or explicitly