

Disclosure of Confidentiality of Patient and Personal Data Community Personal Data for Contact Tracking for The Spread of Covid-19.

- Author(s): St. Laksanto Utomo
- Abstract: This article is a normative juridical research, that a problem will be studied by reviewing legislation and library research by analyzing related library materials. Article 55 states that any person who intentionally makes public information that is untrue or misleading and causes harm to others shall be punished with imprisonment for a maximum of 1 year and/or a fine of a maximum of Rp. 5,000,000.00 (five million rupiah). The legal protection is contained in other forms of legal protection, both civil, criminal, administrative and the protection of other rights. Every hospital must keep medical secrets, which can only be opened for the benefit of the patient's health, to fulfill requests from law enforcement officials in the context of law enforcement, with the patient's own consent, or based on the provisions of laws and regulations.
- Keywords: normative juridical research, laws, regulations