

Perceptions are similar in concept and term.

- Author(s): Yahya Hashim Gweaa'aid, Khaled khalel hadi,
- Abstract: Cognitive linguistics has become one of the most present and active cognitive disciplines in recent decades in the fields of linguistic studies, due to the importance of this science and the researcher's belief that the term is not based in Arabic linguistic studies; Because it is a strange incoming, and therefore the process of dealing with it is still tainted by a kind of turbulence in terms of determining the appropriate counterpart that gives the true meaning of those concepts that the term calls for, like all incoming terms, as well as the claim of some modern Arab theorists that the term (perceived) is a dense matter of complexity and structure, so this research came with a scientific and linguistic approach to highlight the concepts and characteristics of the term.
- Keywords: Cognitive, disciplines, decades, Arabic, tainted, incoming, scientific,